HURLED DOWN TO DEATH.

THIRTY-THREE PEOPLE KILLED AND OVER FIFTY INJURED.

A Boston & Providence Train Crashes Through a Bridge Between Roslindale and Forest Hill With Fearful Results.

Narrow Escape From a Fire Horror. Boston, March 15.-The most horrible railroad accident that has occurred in the vicinity of Boston since the holocaust at Revere happened this mording in the West Roxbury district. The 7 a. m. train on the Boston & Providence railroad crashed through a highway bridge over South street, between Forest Hills and Roslindale stations, the accident resulting, so far as learned at present, in the death of thirty-three persons and the injury, in many cases very serious, of forty more. Most of the injured are said to be women. The cash of the falling bridge and cars was heard for some distance, and the inhabitants flocked to the

The fire department was on the scene almost immediately, and prevented the horror of cremation. Doctors and ambulances were sent for in every direction, and many soon arrived. Their services were put in execution at once as the dead and wounded were taken out. Most of the dead and those of the injured who were able to be moved were sent to Roslindale and Dedham. The train was in charge of Conductor Tilden, who met a terrible death. He was found on the bank with his leg literally torn off; his abdomen separated and bowels protruding. He was also otherwise badly mangled. He died a few moments after being found.

The Globe's extra accident edition says: Eleven persons are known to be dead. Six of these are young girls going to work. Over thirty persons are seriously injured, many of them fatally, and are now in terrible agony. Assistant Conductor Drake is dying of his injuries. Sergeant Naylor, of the West Roxbury division of mounted police. was killed. On Saturday last he renewed a $3,000 policy on his life. Alice Burnett, of Roslindale, was killed. George Lord is badly To call at the Mammoth Furniture Store of Henry Ort, to inspect his large slock of Henry Ort, to inspect his large were supposed to the injured. Webster Drake is seriously injured.

Dr. Hawes describes the scene as frightful in the extreme. When he mentioned the fact of the six girls being found lying in their own blood the strong man cried. He could give no names. The bodies of the dead were left and the injured cared for. Some were taken to the Massachusetts, others to the city hospital and some home. The excitement at the Providence depot is intense. Crowds are standing, eagerly waiting for news. All are inquiring for relatives and friends. Employers were asking for their employes.

The wrecked train is one over the West Roxbury branch, and the scene of the accident is a third of a mile above Forest Hills station. The only cause so far as known is that the Bussy bridge gave way. There were loaded. W. K. White was the engineer. Frank Irving said when he came along on the next train after the accident, he saw seventeen dead bodies lying near the track. The wounded will number a great many, and most of them are fatally injured. One car caught fire but was extinguished before any damage was done. Wrecking trains and a large number of surgeons and policemen are

The facts as far as known at the present time are as follows: As the Dedham branch train, which leaves dham at 7:05 and ar rives in Boston at 7 19, reached this bridge the three rear cars were in some way thrown from the track and piled promiscuously down the embankment, which at this point is thirty or thirty-five feet high. This bridge crosses the marsh between Forest Hills station and Chamber and Parlor Suits Roslindale, and is approached on either side by embankments. The train is one of the largest and heaviest on the morning list, and this morning, as usual, was heavily loaded. The last three cars, the ones the left the track, were filled with passengers who had taken the train at Dedham and the stations intervening between there and Forest Hill.

As soon as the accident occurred word was sent to the nearest station, and from there the superintendent of the road was notified by telegraph and messengers summoning surgical assistance were sent out on horseback. In the meantime a force of men set to work to relieve those who were pinned under the wreck, and a wrecking train was also made up and at once sent to the scene. A hundred and fifty mattresses were obtained at the city hospital and sent by the train which carried the surgeons and friends of the passengers. A gentleman who left the scene at 9 o'clock said twenty bodies had been taken out, and that two of the injured had died. The number of persons injured, he says, was very large.

The bridge where the accident occurred was one over South street, and the gentleman says that the accident was due to the giving way of the structure under the weight of the train, owing doubtless to some hidden fault in the construction or the material used. The news spread like wildfire and the people thronged to the scene by thousands. In a short time the place was crowded with people.

The bridge is comparatively a new structure. The accident is attributed to several causes, but it is now stated that it was caused by a truck under one of the cars becoming detached and striking against the abutments of the bridge. Almost immediately after the smoker fell flames began to pour out of the windows. The car had taken fire from the stove. The fire department, however, was promptly at the scene and soon extinguished the flames. Among those reported killed are: Conductor Myron Tilden; Alice Burnett, of Roslindale; William Johnson, of Roslindale; Mrs. Cardinal, of Roslindale; Mr. Clapp, of West Roxbury; Miss Norris, of West Roxbury; Edard A. The engineer of the ill-fated train kept right on to Forest Hill and gave the alarm. The officials of the road are at the scene of the disaster, and are doing all they can to alleviate the sufferings of the injured. The bodies of the killed are horribly mangled, some of them having been decapitated. Many others are fearfully crushed and mutilated, and their identity will be impossible unless some clue is found on their persons.

Robbing a Church.

NEW YORK, March 15 .- A man entered the church of the Annunciation, Williams-burg just after the congregation left yesterday morning and with a file opened the poor boxes and emptied them of the pennies an small coins. He also took a piece of silve: from the altar. On emerging from the church his appearance excited suspicion. A "stop thief!" was raised, and he wa pursued by a large crowd. Running into a out-house he threw the coins and plate dow: the vault, and again started to flee from hipursuers, but was caught and taken before the priest. The police were sent for and arrested the man, who said his name wa-Walter Lennox. The crowd were so indignant at his sacrilege that they seemed ready to punish him, but he was locked up.

A Big Labor Fight. PITTSBURG, March 15.—The firm of W. D. Wood & Co., manufacturers of Russia plan-

ished iron at McKeesport, had a fight with the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers about eight years ago, in which Wood & Co. were victorious. A number of their men having joined the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers Saturday afternoon, the firm issued a notice Saturday night that their services would not longer be required. The firm objects to dealing with any labor organizations. This means a tight beween the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers and Wood & Co., which will affect about 700 men,

An Eccentric Suicide.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 15 .- Obediah Wheelock, a wealthy and eccentric bachelor of seventy-five years, hanged himself yester day in the garret of his residence at 1112 Filbert street. He left a note saying that ill-health had impelled him to suicide. He leaves property valued at $60,000, which it is supposed will go to a sister in New York, and one in Vermont. Before hanging himself Wheelock took a bath, put on his best clothing and stopped the clock at the hour chosen for his death.

Hundreds Ruined Financially.

St. Johns, N. B., March 15 .- The valuable lumber property of J. Stewart, in the Ottawa district, has been attached by the broken Maritime bank for $500,000. This is on account of the sum of $600,000 said to be owing to the bank by the firm of R. A. & J. Stewart, lumber exporters. Not only the bank but the great firms which it has been carrying are hopelessly bankrupt. To deposits of $1,000,000 are swept away. and hundreds of people are financially ruined.

WHITE HOUSE.

While There is But One Ex-President Living, Eleven Ladies Who Have Presided Over the Executive Mansion Still Survive-Other Washington Affairs.

WASHINGTON, March 15. - The recent presence in Washington at the same time of Mrs. Julia Dent Grant, widow of ex-President Grant, and of Mrs. Cleveland, the present lady of the White House, and of Miss Cleveland the last preceding lady whe held that high position, has suggested that perhaps it might be as agreeable to the ladies concerned as it certainly would be gratifying to those who might visit them if all the ladies now living who have at any time presided at the executive mansion could assemble at the National capital and hold a reception together at the White House.

Why not have it on the president's fiftieth birthday? If they could convene in this way

there should be present:—
Mrs. Julia Gardiner Tyler, widow of President Tyler.

Mrs. Semple, her stepdaughter, now an in-mate of the Louise Home, in Washington city, who during the period between her own mother's death, about September, 1842, and the marriage of her father in 1844, was the head of his household in the president's mansion, a longer period than her stepmother, held that place, who was married in June, 1844, and left the White House with her husband when his term expired, in March, 1845.

Mrs. James K. Polk, widow of President Polk, who immediately succeeded Mrs. Tyler. Mrs. Harriett Lane Johnson, the niece of President Buchanan, who was for four years the mistress of the executive mansion.

Mrs. Patterson, the daughter of President Johnson, who, the wife of the latter being old and not in very good health, jointly with her sister, Mrs. Stover, now dead, did the honors of the White house while their father was president.

Mrs. Julia Dent Grant, ex-President Grant's widow, who lived eight years in the White House.

Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes, wife of ex-President Hayes, who was there four years, Mrs. James A. Garfield, widow of President Garfield, who lived only six months in the executive mansion.

Mrs. Ellen Arthur McElroy, the late ex-President Arthur's sister, who was the lady or the White House during several months of each of the three years and a half while he was president.

Miss Rose Elizabeth Cleveland, who had the same place for fifteen months.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland. This would indeed make a notable assemecutive mansion survive.

There were four of these ladies-the two last named and Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Semple -in Washington the last week in February, and Mrs. Grant and Mrs. and Miss Cleveland spent one evening together in the White House, the first time the three were ever together. The meeting was doubtless a most delightful one to all concerned. Mrs Grant had a great admiration for President Cleveland before she ever met his wife, and last summer, when the two ladies just from Washington called on her at Long Branch within two weeks after the president's marriage, she eagerly exclaimed: "Oh, do tell me all about the White House bride, I never was so interested in anything before in my life as in his marriage. I read everything could find in the papers before and after the wedding about it, and the only fault I have to find about it is that the president did not sooner let'us know positively that he was going to be married, so I could have enjoyed it longer."

She then went on to say how much she appreciated President Cleveland's cours toward her and her late husband, during the illness of the latter and after his death, and said that Gen. Grant had often during his illness spoken feelingly of the president's attentions to him, and had also commended his conduct as a president and said that in many things the Republicans might learn of him with profit.

Postoffice Pariarchs.

WASHINGTON, March 15 .- It is said at the postoffice department that the venerable James H. Marr, for many years the chies clerk of the first assistant's office, is dange, ously ill of inflammation of the bowels, from which it is not expected he will recover. Mr. Marr shares with Judge Lawrenson, of the postoffice department, the honor of having served the government for a greater term of consecutive years than any of his associates Both gentlemen were appointed in 1331. during Jackson's administration. Mr. Mar. is eighty-one years old and Judge Lawrenson three years his senior. Mr. Marr's health has been gradually failing for the past year. Each congress makes a provision in its legis lative bill that the salary of the first assistant's chief clerk shall be $2,500 per annum so long as the place is held by Mr. Marr. Upon his death it will be fixed at $2,000, which is the regular salary attached to the position. The extra $500 is given to Mr. Marr in recognition of his long and faithful ser-

Judge Lawrenson, unlike his venerable colleague, is still as active as many men a score of years younger. He lives in Baltimore and makes the journey thither daily, a distance there and back, of eighty miles. He is promptly at his desk each morning and the younger men in his room say no employe in the department discharges his duty more punctually. Judge Lawrenson has served under thirty-one different postmasters genfriend Daniel J. Corkery, pastor of the eral. He has seen the department grow from a handful of clerks to its present huge proportions. He was appointed as a Democrat and is a Democrat still. By virtue of his office as a notary public he has administered the cath of office to all the postmasters general for the past fifty years. When Col. Vilas became the head of the department he was sworn in by another notary. The old gentleman felt so badly about it that Col. Vilas, upon being apprised of the fact, sent for Judge Lawrenson and a second time took the oath, in order that the record might not be

Both the judge and Mr. Marr are held in the highest esteem by the officers and employes of the postoffice department. Succeeding administrations were something to which they have given little heed. They were se-cure in their positions and it has mattered little to them whether Democrats, Whigs or Republicans controlled the destinies of the government. They valued their places and gave the best service they could in return for them. Marshall Jewe t, of Connecticut, once jocularly remarked to Mr. Marr, "I suppose, Mr. Marr, you think the department could not exist without you?"

The old gentleman, looking his youthful superior in the face, gravely replie 1: "No, sir, I do not; but I am quite sure I could not exist without the department."

Alexander of Battenberg.

WASHINGTON, March 15-A real live prince, Alexander of Battenberg in short, late ruler of Bulgaria, will visit + winter. He will spend a month in Washington. The object of his visit is to secure a wife from among the pretty American girls of whom he has heard so much. The announcment has created a great flutter of excitement in society circles. The prince would not object to finding a wife worth a substantial dowry of a million or so in her own right, but after all he wishes it understood that beauty is the principal consideration. The prince unfortunately is poor, but what he lacks in this respect is made up in good looks. He is said to be one of the handsomest men in Europe. He is about thirty years of age, and during his reign in Bulgaria p oved himself both a statesman and a warrior of no mean pretentions.

Sweden's Delights.

WASHINGTON, March 15 .- Mr. Rufus Magee, United States minister to Sweden, is in the city. Mr. Magee is delighted with his residence in that country. He describes the people as being the most polite and courteous in their social intercourse of any in the world. The most cordial feeling exists between the king and his subjects. The king walks about the streets of Stockholm as democratically and as safely as Gen. Grant during his incumbency of the White House did in this city. According to Mr. Magee a policeman's lot in Sweden must be a happy one. During the twenty-two months he has resided in Stockholm there has not been an arrest for drunkenness, a murder or a fire. There is no country on the globe where human life has so many protections.

NO PLACE FOR OUTLAWS.

A Band of Cuban Agitators Required to Leave a Florida Town,

KEY WEST, Fla., March 15 .- A band of eleven Cuban outlaws landed here from Tampa, Saturday. Eight left town on receiving notice to do so from the citizen's committee. Of the remaining three Emilio Garcio surrendered himself to the sheriff, Pedro Ojas was arrested at the instance of the state's attorney and locked up in jail, and blage. It will be noted that while there is but one ex-president, Mr. Hayes, living, eleven ladies who have presided over the exinformed Rubiera that he must go, which he immediately agreed to do if the committee would give their reasons for insisting on his departure in writing. This was willingly The notice given by the and promptly done. committee was as follows:

"We are here as the representatives of the good people of the community to say that we intend to have order, peace and quiet prevail in our midst, and to give notice that all disturbers and agitators must leave immediately and without further notice. If you are peaceful and law-abiding and wish to remain in our midst and pursue a legitimate advocation or business, we will see that you are protected and in no way disturbed. But if you remain you must conform to our laws and customs. We know the agitators and disturbers, and if they remain after this notice they must abide the consequences."

The committee, which consisted of fifteen persons, was appointed at a meeting of citizens held last Tuesday for the purpose of devising some means of ridding the community of this band of desperadoes, and given full power to adopt such measures as they saw fit. The committee visited the headquarters of the disturbing faction and informed them that they were known to be outlaws and blackmailers, and ordered them to leave. Hence their exit. Two of the band are now in jail here.

Suspicious Fire. HOWELL, Mich., March 15 .- Monroe's hard. ware store and several adjoining buildings burned Saturday night. From the fact that Monro, who is an ardent Prohibitioni had received a note of warning signed "Many Saloon Keepers," it is supposed that the fire was incendiary. GALESBURG, Ill., March 15 .- The colored voters of Galesburg, over two hundred strong, organized a "Douglass Political League" Saturday evening. It is a strictly secret organization. Some of them favor putting up an independent ticket of white men, and have already asked leading citizens to run on it.

Home and School. There are few subjects of as great importance to the home as the school, and few that receive as little attention by home people. Just why parents should turn over their children, absolutely, to the teacher to be educated morally, physically and intellectually, and consider that their responsibility ended when they have started the children out on the road to the school house, is a query we are unable to answer.

If people would only think of the salutary influence exerted on the minds of the children by the knowledge that parents and teacher are working together for their education, and that they would be in time to cool the brow of the gardener. held responsible at home, as well as at far better discipline in the school, with less trouble and provocation to the teacher. Then the advancement of the pupils would be a greater source of delight to both teacher and parent than it is now. How is this to be accomplished? First, the teacher should be able to make his patrons feel that he is not a mercenary hireling and that he merely keeps school for the "draw of the district." They should be made to feel that he is actuated by nobler motives and stimulated to extra exertion by grander impulses than the acquisition pelf. But how can the teacher make any impression on people whom he never sees in his daily avocation, and with half of whom he is unacquainted? A FALL IN LUMBER.

A Cincinnati Firm Assigns With Liabilities of Over $100,000.

CINCINNATI, March 15 .- George S. Crawford, the large dealer in lumber and owner of the saw mill at the foot of Sixth street, and that just above the city, assigned to Howard Douglass for the benefit of creditors shortly after noon, and scattered consternation broadcast among business men. There was no anticipation of such an event. A rough estimate of the assets places them at $60,000. The liabilities, it is believed, will considerably exceed $100,000.

Preferences have been made to creditors, as follows: Kirkpatrick & Co., of New York, for $14,657.37; Third National bank, of Cincinnati, for $20,118.46; Commercial bank, of Cincinnati, for $10,500, and George Hen-shaw & Sons for $1,000. Total preferences, $47,275.46. The chattel mortgages cover the plant of the mills' machinery, lumber, horses, wagons and stock. The cause of the failure is claimed to be an attempt to do too much business. The immediate cause was the pressure of one of the banks named above.

Advice of a Justice.

NEW YORK, March 15 .- Policeman Sands, of the Eldridge Street police station, was in citizens dress in the Bowery, at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, when he saw Edward Mc-Donnell, a barly follow, grab Emil Lerem's watch. He collared the thief whose companions tried to rescue him. They did not succeed, and the prisoner produced a pistol and fired point plank at Sands. The bullet struck a button on the breast of his coat and glanced off. The policeman disarmed him. At Essex market Justice Murray asked the policeman if he had not clubbed McDonnell, "I did not," was the reply. "Well, you ought to have shot him," said the justice. McDonnell was committed without bail.

Smallpox at Los Angeles.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15 .- At the request of the Northern Pacific railroad officials, the the state board of health started vesterday for Los Angeles to investigate and report the facts in regard to the presence of smallpox in that city. There have been a multitude of statements and denials on the subject, some alleging that smallpox exists to an alarming extent, and others denying its existence altogether. A good many visitors who have been sojourning in southern California have come to San Francisco within the last few days on account of the scare. A druggist here says that he sent 20,000 vaccine points to Los Angeles last week and had orders for 10,000 more.

Fire in a Grain Mill.

WILLIMANTIC, Conn., March 15 .- E. A. Buck & Company's steam grain mill was gutted by fire last night. The flames were discovered at 10 o'clock, and they spread rapidly. The building was in a district full of wooden buildings and fears were entertained that the business center would be burned. The fire was gotten under control, with the loss of the steam mill and the Willimantic Electric Light company's works. The Daily News office was badly damaged, chiefly by water. Buck's loss is $15,000 or more. His insurance is $11,500. The other losses are un-

Quick Work.

New Castle, Ind., is a place of only 2,500 inhabitants, yet her citizens and business men are a lively, go-ahead people. Not many days ago a committee of them started out to raise enough money to sink a natural gas well. They were were just two hours and twenty minutes in raising the sum required. The well was sunk, plenty of gas was found, and the place is now enjoying a healthy boom. Charles H. White is endeavoring to raise money to sink a well near this city. When one considers the advantages to be derived from natural gas, it seems that the necessary sum should be subscribed in a few hours. One hundred or two hundred dollars from twenty or thirty men is all that is needed to carry out the scheme.

IN THE WORLD OF LABOR.

HOW THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR PRO-POSE TO EVADE BOYCOTT LAWS.

Parties to Be Attacked Will Be "Commended to the Consideration of the Members of the Order"-Prospect of Peace on the N. Y., P. & O.-Strikes. CHICAGO, March 15 .- As a result of the measures which have been introduced into various state legislatures making boycotting a criminal offense, two district assemblies loeated in this city have decided to adopt a method which they believe will outwit the lawmakers and at the same time make the boycotting practice as effective as ever. Hereafter no resolutions will be adopted by these assemblies or circulars issued declaring a boycott on any individual or firm. Instead the productions of the party to be attacked will be "commended to the members of the order."

As an example a circular sent to the various local assemblies announcing as the opinion of district assembly No. 1 that "the goods made and sold by John Jones are worthy the consideration and attention of the Knight of Labor" will mean that such goods are to be let severely alone, or in other words, boycotted, and the sentence will be just as much a part of the vocabulary of the knights as the word boycott has been. Notices in relation to Armour & Company's meats are now being sent out crouched in this language, and the knights say that lawyers who have been consulted, are of the opinion that the persons responsible for such circulars cannot be caught in the meshes of either the conspiracy law or any anti-boycott legislation.

Will Try to Get Round it.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 15 .- Leading members of the Knights of Labor profess no alarm at the bill which has just passed the assembly, enacting that any person convicted of boycotting shall be liable to a sentence of one year's imprisonment in the county jail or a fine not exceeding $500. They say that even in the event of the measure becoming a law there are many ways in which it can be evaded, and that, moreover, the constitution of the order will enable boycotts to be enforced in a manner which cannot be reached by the proposed Wages Advanced.

PHILADELPHIA, March 15 .- The wages of the employes of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad company, in this city, will be increased from 8 to 15 per cent. The increase begins to-day, and will affect about 500 men, exclusive of those at Fort Richmond and the freight and coal handlers at the depots. This action of the company is the result of a conference which was held on Saturday, between an arbitration board representing the employes and General Superintendent Sweigard. It is understood that a similar advance of wages will be granted the employes at other points along the road.

Miners' Troubles at Peoria, Illinois.

PEORIA, Ill., March 15. - The colored men from Grape Creek say the coal operators brought them to Peoria under false pretenses, claiming that the strike was over and that there was plenty of work for honest workers. On their arrival they found the men on a strike, and many of them, being Knights of Labor, hate to enter the mines. They are here penniless, and would not be re-engaged if sent back to Grape Creek. The trades assembly appointed a committee to collect funds for their aid. All hands are quiet, but the situation is critical.

N. Y., P. & O. Trouble.

Youngstown, March 15. - There is no change in the status of the striking yardmen of the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Pittsburg & Western lines. A committee of New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio yardmen from Cleveland and a committee here held a conference with Superintendent O'Brien this morning with closed doors. The probability is that all existing difficulties among the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio employes will be adjusted and traffic resumed.

At Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, March 15 .- This morning the elerks in the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio railroad offices were busy registering green hands who have been employed to take the places of the striking brakemen. In anticipation of new men going to work, the strikers have appointed committees to watch the yards and persuade them to join the union. Trouble is feared if the new men attempt to run trains.

The Strike Over.

MARQUETTE, Mich., March 15 .- The strike of laborers on the South Branch terminated yesterday, About fifty of the leaders and more troublesome strikers were ordered out of the camp and obeyed. All others, together with the new men, began work to-day at the old wages. The presence of the sheriff's posse of armed men and the determined front of the contractors overawed the hot-headed, who wisely withdrew, and bloodshed was avoided.

Asking a Ten Per Cent. Increase.

YORK, Pa., March 15 .- All the Knights of Labor employed at A. B. Farquiar's agricultural works at this place went out this morning on a strike for an increase of ten per cent. promised them some time ago. The advance was made in one department but not in another. There are now about 200 men out and but about 100 left to work in the shops, many of them apprentices. The best mechanics are all out.

Corkhill Gives His Reasons.

PHILADELPHIA, March 15 .- The Philadelphia Press contains an interview with Corkhill in reference to his desire to leave the Cincinnati club, in which he says: "There has a general impression gone abroad that I am dissatisfied with the Cincinnati management and the people there. That is an error, and I would like to correct it. I want my release for several sensible reasons. In the first place my business in Camden, though not large, is steadily increasing, and needs more of my attention. By signing with the Athletic club I can attend to business, except the few weeks we are away on our trips. Secondly, Mrs. Corkhill's health is poor, and Cincinnati's atmosphere is very injurious to her. For these two reasons alone am I determined not to play in any city except Philadelphia."

One Got Away.

COSHOCTON, O., March 15.—Between 400 and 500 persons indulged in a circle fox hunt in Keene township, Saturday. Captains only were permitted to carry guns. Only three foxes were in the final circle—one of which escaped.
